For fifteen years, the Bibliotheca Alexandrina (BA), through the Art Collections and Exhibitions Department, has organized a large number of young artists’ talents, by offering them the appropriate space to present their art projects and artworks.

The First Time Exhibition has become a hub for art connoisseurs and those interested in following up on young talents and is attended by hundreds of visitors every month. The exhibition also provides artists with the opportunity for local recognition and additional visibility within the art scene.

This year, the BA presents a selection of young artists and a larger than usual exhibition space for group exhibitions, where they can present their recent works and exhibit their creative talents in their artistic careers with confidence and pride.

In this edition, we also present a new generation of young exhibition curators, where the First Time Exhibition will be their first experience in the field. We extend our gratitude to them and to all those who participate in organizing this event.
