Shall We Add Another ‘Access’!

Access to knowledge (A2K) is a much discussed issue and its boundaries are frequently challenged by Intellectual Property (IP).

Some argue that A2K is a Human Right (HR), but has anyone ever explored how Access to Finance (A2F) is essential and can actually support A2K or on the other hand how A2K can support A2F?

In fact, this is a new horizon that the BA A2k Project and the IDLO Microfinance Program are currently exploring. Stay tuned for a new article on this topic very soon.

Ah! It makes sense now.

eIFL-IP Draft Law on Copyright

The eIFL-IP Draft Law on Copyright is a practical guide to assist librarians, as well as their legal advisors and policy makers, when national laws are being updated. It contains provisions that support access to knowledge and the public interest of libraries and consumers.
News Highlights

“It is said that IP has been integrated in everyday life; from food to health and from education to entertainment. And now it is discussed in relation to environment too!”

Introduction

Creativity and innovation are essential ingredients for the development of human society. Scientific, economic and social evolutions require the orchestrated efforts of many intellectuals, working together on overcoming the challenges to human development and inventing novel concepts, theories, tools and technologies that can be effectively exploited to serve humanity and improve the well-being of society.
