

Open Access (OA)

Open Access means unrestricted access to peer-reviewed scholarly research articles or publications that are digital, online and free-of-charge. The OA enables users to read, download, copy, distribute or print the articles or publications, and use them lawfully, without any financial, legal, or technical barriers.

Benefits of Open Access for:

- Researchers
- Open Access offers researchers online and barrier-free access to the required resources.
 - Enhances interdisciplinary research.
 - Accelerates the pace of research, discovery and innovation.

- Research Institutions
- Open Access helps institutions provide what their readers need.
 - Contributes to core mission of advancing knowledge.
 - In the long-term, Open Access may assist in resolving budgetary problems due to the increased costs of journals subscriptions.

- Research Funders
- Open Access increases the return on their investment in research by allowing the results of that research more widely available.
 - Helps in creating a transparent publishing environment.
 - Encourages greater interaction, faster developments and innovation in research.

- Authors
- Open Access provides authors with a world wide audience.
 - Increases the visibility, readership and impact of their work.
 - Open Access widens opportunities for funding and international collaboration.

Paths of Open Access:

Green Open Access

Researchers deposit (self-archive) their peer-reviewed journal article in a central or institutional Open Access Repository.

Gold Open Access

Researchers publish their manuscripts in journals that offer free access to articles on its website, and are available to users free-of-charge and immediately following publishing.

How to access OA Databases

Visit our website: www.bibalex.org/libraries or use the interface from inside the Library.

Click Database to access the list of databases
- Selecting Open Access Resources will enable you to access OA Databases list

المزيد من المعلومات:
- توجه إلى مكتب الخدمات المرجعية
- قم بزيارة الموقع الإلكتروني: www.bibalex.org/libraries
- أرسل على البريد الإلكتروني: e-resources@bibalex.org

For additional information:
- Please consult the Reference Desk
- Visit: www.bibalex.org/libraries
- E-mail: e-resources@bibalex.org

برعاية
EBSCO

20
الجمهورية العربية السورية
Library Services

